Daily Coding Problem

Good morning! Here's your coding interview problem for today.

This problem was asked by Facebook.

Given a stream of elements too large to store in memory, pick a random element from the stream with uniform probability.

Upgrade to premium and get in-depth solutions to every problem, including this one.

If you liked this problem, feel free to forward it along so they can subscribe here! As always, shoot us an email if there's anything we can help with!

Ready to interview? Take Triplebyte's quiz and skip straight to final interviews with top tech companies!